

THE SUNDIAL

Ingleside Terraces Homes Association

August/September 2007

President's Letter

I am pleased to report an increase in attendance at the last Ingleside Terraces Homes Association regular meeting on June 21, when more than 30 people were present to hear about issues affecting our community.

Several city representatives in attendance fielded questions about quality-of-life issues, crime, safety, unauthorized entry onto private property to take recyclables, traffic calming, and Parkmerced development.

Police Captain Keith Sanford and Officer Michelangelo Apodaca from Taraval Station discussed unlawful activities in the neighborhood and advised residents to stay alert and informed. Pam Matsuda, the outgoing SAFE program director, talked about the importance of Neighborhood Watch clubs. Mike Sallaberry, MTA transportation engineer, discussed the Holloway-Garfield Traffic Calming Project. And Chris Colwick and Leo Chow requested community input on long-range improvements and development at Parkmerced.

In addition, residents reviewed proposed and ongoing construction projects in the neighborhood, with the goal of minimizing impact on surrounding properties and retaining the character of the neighborhood.

No ITHA meetings were held in July or August; the next regular monthly meetings are scheduled for September 20 and October 18 at 135 Corona St., starting at 7:30 p.m. The Annual Meeting is to be held Saturday, November 10 from 10 a.m. to noon at St. Francis Episcopal Church, San Fernando Way and Ocean Avenue. On December 13, the annual caroling party will take place.

Coming up very soon is the 20th Annual Sundial Picnic and Barbecue on Sunday, September 30, from noon to 3 p.m. (Fill out the form on Page 7.) Come to Sundial Park and say hello to your neighbors, old and new.

Lonnie Lawson
President

Construction Projects Roundup

By Norman Meunier
Vice President

There is a trend in reconstruction and remodeling in the Terraces to try to add as much to existing housing stock as is legally allowable. This is happening not only in our neighborhood but throughout the city. Many neighbors continue to wonder how we can reduce the "hugeness" that we see around us.

Recently three neighbors — Irene Carter, Suzanne McDonnell and Kathleen Bahamondes — came together and formed a committee to develop residential design guidelines. If you have interest in helping, e-mail kathleenbahamondes at yahoo.com. Volunteers are needed to make this effort a success.

Here is an update on current projects, listed by address:

45 Alviso Concerned neighbors requested a Discretionary Review. A hearing took place where all sides were heard. The Planning Department decided to allow the project to go forward as planned. The owners complied with requests to reduce the size of the project, and it should "fit" within the block when completed. The project is in the final stages of plan development before seeking permits.

285 Ashton Looks like there is a 311 notice on the front of the building. The yard appears to have been cleared of the brush.

25 Cerritos Progress, structure built, moving along.

9 De Soto In process, nearing completion of exterior work.

25 De Soto New windows on north side.

85 De Soto Cutting in new windows on existing locations.

56 Entrada Structure built, painting in process, new gutters, appears to be almost complete from street view.

85 Entrada New windows.

1140 Holloway Interior work, job card in window. Appears to be adding rooms on lower level.

60 Urbano New driveway, appears to be mostly interior work.

414 Urbano Appears to be simple dry rot repairs to front steps.

446 Urbano Appears complete from street.

501 Urbano Almost done, structure done, family appears to have moved back in.

744 Urbano Stucco closed, new windows, interior sheetrock in process.

2325 Ocean Looks like

The Seagull Has Landed

The seagull pylon at Ocean Avenue and Victoria Street, installed in 1979 to enhance the shopping district, came down on August 14, leaving the Terraces' historic 1912 stone columns standing alone. Supervisor Sean Elsbernd and many Terraces residents finally convinced the DPW to remove the 15' concrete structure. It took a bulldozer, jackhammer and several hours to do the job. ### Home Sales Still Sizzling In Terraces

By Sandy Gandolfo

I can't remember a time when there was so much sales activity in the Terraces. In the last eight months, 12 homes were sold, ranging from $799,000 to a record $2.95 million. As of August 24, there were six active listings and three pending sales. The average for a Terraces home is nearly $1.54 million.

For those of you worried about how the recent mortgage crisis affects your property value, rest assured that, from my perspective, plenty of financing is still available for qualified buyers; the only difference now is that a qualified buyer has to have a 20% down payment in addition to good credit and solid income.

Real estate is typically our largest asset. Or is it? Have you been able to maximize your home's equity? Have you thought about improvements to increase its value? Have you considered borrowing on your home to buy other investments? A lot of tax laws have changed regarding capital gains and transferring your tax basis from one property to another. Make sure you explore these important issues with a specialist before thinking about selling.

You can ask your Realtor for a list of resources for property maintenance and for specialists in taxes, estate planning and insurance.

Sandy Arata Gandolfo, a 32-year Terraces resident, is a Realtor with Barbagelata on West Portal Avenue; she can be reached at 759-2526.

rear porch and roof have been removed. Building for sale. Offices all appear empty.

As usual, folks, if you notice something that concerns you in our Terraces, please contact me by e-mail at njmeunier@comcast.net or phone at 587-4349. You can also drop a note in my mailbox at 450 Monticello St. I will not act on anonymous tips; you must leave your name and contact information in order for me to investigate.

Board president Lonnie Lawson and I have attended several recent Discretionary Review meetings at the Planning Department. It is very important that neighbors show up at City Hall in large numbers for these meetings. A strong neighborhood presence gets more attention from government officials.

More Households Supporting ITHA

By Bill Ferrero
Membership Chair

We would like to acknowledge and thank the 30 percent of Ingleside Terraces households (as of June 30, listed by house number below) for their support of the Ingleside Terraces Homes Association. Many of these dues-paying members have contributed more than the minimum, which allows the ITHA to continue its work.

Last year the dues were used to:

- Pay the gardener to plan, buy plants, weed, water, prune, and keep up the circles, the entrances, and the Sundial Court; his work was enhanced by homeowner volunteers. These natural areas beautify the neighborhood and benefit everyone.

- Pay the expenses of the Sundial, your neighborhood newsletter.

- Support the neighborhood fall picnic, spring garage sale, annual meeting in November and holiday caroling events. These activities help to create a friendly, know-your-neighbors feeling — something missing in much of today's society.

- Provide a forum at the monthly meetings (open to all) for neighbors to bring their concerns about the area and to hear what is happening and what is proposed. We've had our city supervisors, police representatives, and many others giving us useful information on planning, zoning and political issues.

- Support the activities of NERT, Neighborhood Emergency Response Team.

- Supply the Welcome Wagon, which brings goodies to new residents.

NERT Plans for the Next Big (or Small) One

By JoAnn Tracht-Rawson
NERT Coordinator

If you haven't yet heard about NERT, or Neighborhood Emergency Response Team, you might want to find out more about it, because San Francisco will have only 1,700 or so fire-fighting and emergency medical field personnel to help serve 750,000 residents in an emergency (see www.sfgov.org/site/fire\_index.asp?id=4455). That makes it vitally important for everyone to be prepared, and for the neighborhood NERT group to be able and ready to offer support and help.

Our local group has been putting together a cache — supplies for the neighborhood. Still needed are:

- 1 box of medical latex gloves
- 3 medium-size plastic storage boxes
- 1 head lamp
- 2 sets FRS Radios
- 3 fleece blankets

The Ingleside Terraces NERT Command Center is located at the corner of Mercedes and Junipero Serra. In an emergency, that is where NERT members will be offering help, and where anyone can come to volunteer. Look for the neighborhood NERT drill on October 13!

To find out more about NERT, or to register for a class, call 970-2024 or visit www.sfgov.org/site/sfnert\_form.asp?id=24118.

To find out more about the Terraces' NERT team, or how to be better prepared for an emergency, contact me at 333-7410 (home) or 806-8904 (cell), or by e-mail at Joann-r at comcast.net

Look for Changes on Ocean Avenue

A used bookstore, a locally owned bar, a new library and possibly a hardware store are all part of the new face of Ocean Avenue in the coming months.

Avalon/Pacific Trust, a development company, is preparing to submit a proposal to the Planning Department that covers the two blocks from Plymouth (starting right after the new library) up to Lee Street. The proposal shows top-story rental units above bottom-floor commercial retail spaces, with one large retail space of approximately 10,000 square feet between Brighton and Lee streets (which the developers hope will entice a grocer). A number of meetings have been held to solicit community input.

Farther up the block, the city's Balboa Station Plan includes a redesign of the Phelan Loop (with a park at the current bus turnaround), the BART station and the old MUNI building, which is going to become a rec center/ business park once the money is raised.

Meanwhile, Ocean Avenue

Books has opened at 1735 Ocean Ave., and the Avenue Bar at 1607 Ocean will reopen with new owners — three firefighter friends who grew up in the neighborhood and attended Riordan High School together. The Ingleside Library at Plymouth and Ocean is to break ground in the fall, barring further delays, and Ace Hardware is one of the possible tenants in the former Blockbuster site on Ocean at Jules. A Chinese medical herb store will take over the space at 1927 Ocean Ave.

JoAnn Tracht-Rawson is our Ingleside Terraces representative on the Ocean Avenue Revitalization Collaborative, which has been meeting for four years. The group does monthly cleanups on Ocean Avenue on the last Saturday of the month (it meets at 10 a.m. in front of Java on Ocean), puts up holiday decorations, does graffiti abatement and works with merchants. To get involved, call 333-7410 or e-mail Joann-r at comcast.net

Put the ‘Neighbor’ Back in Neighborhood

By Sandy Gandolfo
Social Chair

It wasn't that long ago when neighbors exchanged telephone numbers and house keys and generally looked out for one another. I also remember a time when teenagers would get summer jobs from neighbors cutting lawns, washing windows, cleaning out garages or house-sitting pets. Wouldn't it be great to get kids away from their PlayStations and Nintendos and send them out to earn a few bucks? I would be happy to start a list for anyone looking for a part-time helper, as well as anyone who wants to put their able-bodied young ones on the list. Perhaps the Ingleside Terraces Google group can become a source for exchanging such information.

Another way we can come together as a neighborhood is at the annual picnic on Sunday, September 30. We have many new residents who surely would enjoy meeting their neighbors and being welcomed into the community. Let's make an effort to reach out to neighbors who are new, elderly, or just plain shy, and encourage them to attend this wonderful "friend-raising" event. Put a note in a mailbox, or knock on a front door. Reach out and touch someone — we still can do that, can't we? Who knows, maybe more households will join the ITHA. I'm sure that many senior citizens would enjoy attending but might not be comfortable going on their own, or can't carry a chair or whatever food they would like to bring. I would be glad to serve as a resource for anyone who would like assistance to attend the picnic, and I can coordinate with anyone who can offer such assistance. E-mail sgandolfo at sbcglobal.net or call me at 334-1494.

SAFE Offers Tips on Preventing Robberies

Many residents and merchants throughout San Francisco have expressed concerns about their personal safety in the wake of several recent robberies, including a daylight purse-snatching on Urbano and Moncada that occurred August 14.

SAFE (Safety Awareness for Everyone) offers the following safety tips.

- Be alert and aware of your surroundings at all times. If you feel uneasy, leave the area immediately.

- Travel on well-lit and well-populated streets.
- If you leave a restaurant or bar late at night alone, consider taking a cab home.
- If you take the bus, know when your bus arrives by calling 3-1-1 (formerly 674-MUNI).
- Carry a cell phone.
- Limit the credit cards and cash you carry.

SAFE encourages everyone to learn about the benefits of starting Neighborhood or Business Watch groups, including establishing a communications network and accessing city resources that will support your efforts.

SAFE offers personal safety education as well as business security assessments or training.

More safety tips and brochures can be found at www.sfsafe.org/2os\_brochure.htm.
